

REVEALED: 11 eateries in the Taunton Deane district of Somerset with a food hygiene rating of ONE

By StephenDALbiac | Posted: October 16, 2016

These three restaurants in the Taunton Deane district of Somerset have all been given ONE hygiene ratings.

Earlier this year we found nine restaurants, shops, and takeaways in Somerset had a food hygiene rating of zero.

Now, in Taunton Deane alone, we have found 11 eateries that have a food hygiene rating of one. Scroll down to see which businesses have that rating.

They include premises in Taunton and Wellington.

The Food Standards Agency judges all food vendors on a scale of zero to five.

According to the Food Standards Agency, businesses given ratings of 0 or 1 must make urgent or major improvements to hygiene standards.

The rating given shows how well the business is doing overall but also takes account of the element or elements most in need of improving and also the level of risk to people's health that these issues pose.

This is because some businesses will do well in some areas and less well in others but each of the three elements checked is essential for making sure that food hygiene standards meet requirements and the food served or sold to you is safe to eat.

The rating given shows how well the business is doing overall but also takes account of the element or elements most in need of improving and also the level of risk to people's health that these issues pose.

We have attempted to contact managers of all 11 establishments for their comments.
